

Yuplod

Yuplod is a fullstack app (consisting of a client and a server part) to create posts with captions and upload images for them.

In the home page you'll find all the created posts, along with the ones an user has created. This home page is accessible to all users, whether he/she is authenticated or not.

In order to create a post, a user must be authenticated and to do that he should register an account first, if not already done. In order to register the user must provide certain information. The user must be careful in the registration process, if the username or email is already taken it cannot be used by the user. Also the password needs to met certain criterias in order to be stored in the database.

After registration if the user gets logged out he can login back again using the username/email and password he used during registration.

Once a user has either logged in or registered, he can create a post. A post consists of a caption to describe the post and an image associated with the post.
